

Animation

Hei (Darker than Black)

By: Tyrell and Rodolfo

The Internet's vastness

The internet is a marvelous modern tool used to connect people and spread information. As time passes, technology has become more advanced, allowing for more outlets for connections to be made across the globe. One major thing that has spread as a result of the internet, is the spread of Anime. Anime is a style of Japanese film and television animation that is enjoyed by people of all ages, and has impacted culture throughout the world. We personally have been affected by the internet and anime.

Our Personal Story

For us, anime has served as an entertaining solace from the world. The characters, their stories and their ideals, and as a result has inspired us in many ways. The intense perseverance and conflicts serve as role models for us, as they magnify our own struggles in a cool and entertaining way. In anime, we find the embodiment of some of our values against others, and cheer when we see the main character overcome his challenges. Also in general, anime is really cool, since it utilizes fictional elements that compliments the imagination. As a result, our own personal lives have been influenced by anime, right from the beginning of our childhoods when we were unknowingly introduced to anime through classic and well known shows like Pokemon. And ... Cory in the House

Inspiration

Anime has been embedded in our lives, shaping the way we think about how to conquer the insane scenarios we face, instead of using a monotone solution we think abstractly. Whenever we face a new obstacle in our lives, we empathize with our anime characters and try to follow their footsteps as practically possible; Never giving up and always trying to do the right thing.

“Hello everyone, if you could please all kindly kill yourselves”- Euphemia li Britannia (Code Geass)

“Man proposes, God disposes.” - Shintaro Midorima(Kuroko No Basket)

These are examples of deep and inspiring quotes that put new lenses on our perception of our world, powered by Animei.